DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-23 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the disclosed invention is inoperative and therefore lacks utility. It is well-known in the art (e.g. US 5,503,206 to Consolacion et al. of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company) that the mechanism of tire hydroplaning is not surface tension, rather it is backpressure caused by a tire pushing water, wherein the pressure is a function of the depth of the water, the speed of the tire, the inflated pressure of the tire, the tread pattern, road surface pattern, and others. Hydroplaning thresholds are also lowered by high tire temperatures, such as those associated with skidding under heavy braking, wherein the tire rubber softens allowing water to be readily trapped by the rubber, the water is heated to the boiling point, and the tire experiences lifting pressure caused by steam.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-23 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Claims 1 and 16 recite that ultrasonic waves incident upon water acts as a traction improvement apparatus working by disrupting the surface tension of the water. Fluid mechanics known in the art renders this limitation not feasible, and because the specification does not adequately describe the principles or physics behind this unconventional assertion, the disclosure is non-enabling.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
